THE NANAIMO HORROR.

More Bodies Recovered—The Imprisoned Miners' Long Agony.

VICTORIA, May 9th.—This morning at 11 o'clock twenty-four more whites and ten Chinese were discovered, all dead. These men were won to the Nanaimo mine and probably left the level and were coming down the slope when they met the cave-in and retraced their steps. They then made a barricade to keep out the damp, but it gave way and the miners dropped into the mine and were found all huddled together. The boy John Stevens left his message chalked on a shovel: "Two hours now—dying miners." Sixty others were seen giving the "rice" hours of the dying agony. This adds to the grief of the awful disaster. The bodies are in a perfect state of preservation and most lifelike. Following are the names of those recovered to-day: Jas. Thomas, Jas. R. Thompson, Jas. Edward Wilkins, W. M. Bone, Joe Watson, James Milton, Edward Johns, John J. Smith, Edward Benten, James Thompson, David Morgan, Jas. Falen, Jonathan Bradbury, John McCaffrey, Jas. Howell, Robert Buffington, and two Chinese. A message in hieroglyphics was left by the latter, but none of their countrymen would go to see it or read it. Probably they had their further right in the matter of the mine in the mine.

NO HOPE—A STEICKEN COMMUNITY.

REEDING, May 9th.—The County Sabbath School Convention adjourned Saturday evening. The two days of the meeting were spent in great good shape. The harmony in the Democratic party is getting more perfect and the future looks bright. Cleveland is exceeding popular with the people, and we have no difficulty in carrying the State. The outlook is cheering.

"DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN."

LIVERMORE, May 9th.—Hon. Joseph P. Livermore, a successful lawyer and county, died at San Francisco this morning. His remains will be interred at Livermore to-morrow at the Masonic Cemetery. He was born in Livermore in 1832 and died in one of the largest land owners and vine-growers in the county.

ACCIDENT TO A MINER.

CORVALLIS, May 9th.—(By Postal Telegraph.)

A man was found drowned at Sycamore to-day, and identified as a laborer named Frank Allen. The Coroner's verdict was

ACCIDENT TO A MINER.

GRASS VALLEY, May 9th.—A miner named Grass Valley, an employee at the Empire mine, while working in one of the slopes of the mine was injured by being struck by a falling rock. His right collar-bone was broken, which is about the worst of his injuries.

THEY MUST HAVE IT.

UKIAH, May 9th.—The sum of $5,700 was raised here in about three hours to-day and to-morrow to help the relief of the right of way for the Cloverdale and Ukiah Railroad out of Sonoma county. The road is now an assured fact.

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE.

THE SCENE in the old school-house is impressive in the extreme. Here lie twenty-five bodies, in many cases father and sons next to each other. One dies as if he were a charm, another as if he were to open again. Relief is urgently needed. Subscriptions should be taken up in every city on the continent. The widows and orphans need all the help that can be given. Friends are coming in daily, though many hearts have shown a noble sympathy. William McGregor, Manager of the mine is the hero of the hour. His many actions have been performed too highly, and he has made a name for himself which will not soon die, but all behaved manfully and gallantly, which forms a bright feature of the awful calamity. Many Victorians have visited Nanaimo, but are glad to get out of it, the sight being too appalling.

A PEAKULIAN FEATURE OF THE AFFAIR.

NOT yet recorded is the fact that of the mules in the stable each alternate one was killed. This is supposed to be due to the fact that the mules were too light, and escaped the force of the explosion. It is regarded as a strange coincidence.

THE YOUNG lady betrothed to young Lyons is in convulsions, and it is believed she can live. The other young ladies are prostrated, and not likely to recover. The elements seem to share in the general grief. It has been raining and hailing steadily. Probably no more bodies will be discovered to-morrow. Too much praise cannot be given the noble deeds of Nanaimo. Each and all did his duty. The fortitude displayed was grand, and amid such terrible scenes all bore their sorrow manfully.

ROSE Fair at Santa Cruz.

SANTA CRUZ, May 9th.—Elaborate preparations are being made for the Rose Fair which opens to-morrow. The display promises to be the finest ever made in this section of the State.

RAPIDLY RECOVERING.

NAPA, May 9th.—J. W. Roberts, lately at Calistoga, has recovered sufficiently to be up and around.

ARIZONA.

NO Volcanoes in the Whetstone—Benton's Daily Troubles.

ALBUQUERQUE, May 9th.—The "Democrats" of Benton, A. T., special says: All other reports to the contrary notwithstanding, no volcanic eruptions have occurred in south-central Arizona since the last of last month, with the severe earthquake shocks experienced here, great clouds of smoke appeared over the peaks of the Whetstone mountains, south of this point, and at noon yesterday.

DAILY RECORD-UNION

TUESDAY.....MAY 10, 1887

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

The RECORD-UNION is the only paper on the coast, outside of San Francisco, that receives the full Associated Press dispatches from all parts of the world. Outside of San Fran, since it has no competitor, in point of number, in its home and general circulation throughout the coast.

SAN FRANCISCO AGENCIES.

The paper is for sale at the following places: A. P. Fisher, Room 21, Merchants' Exchange; who is also sole Advertising Agent for San Francisco, Market-street Ferry and Junction of Market and Market-street Newsstands, 227, Also, for sale on all Train-leaving and coming to Sacramento.

TO-DAY'S LEADING NEWS TOPICS.

A great national temperance movement has been inaugurated at Pittsburg, Pa.

Recently a vessel narrowly escaped being struck by an enormous meteorite in mid-ocean. Stanley has again been heard from. His party is well, and making steady progress toward the heart of Africa.

Stanley has awarded a contract for 400,000 rifles.

The dispatches from Arizona and Mexico give interesting details of the damage done by the recent earthquake.

Subscriptions are desired for the relief of the widows and orphans left helpless by the Nauvoo, Ia., mine explosion.

PROFIT SHARING.

Mr. Wanamaker of Philadelphia is dividing $100,000 a year among his employees, according to the profit-sharing system. The sum is drawn from the profits of his business.

This is an exemplification—though not so striking a one as that of the Sacramento firm referred to the other day—of profit sharing, but it is not co-operation.

It resides only in the creation of a personal interest in the employee in the business of the employer. But the line of control over the capital remains, and it is wholly within the hands of the employer.

In co-operation, however, there is not only profit sharing but responsibility and loss sharing.

It is this that gives character to the co-operator which will never distinguish the profit sharer. Profit sharing is as far as it goes; it is better than single wage paying; but it is the same energy that is stimulated under it, if aggregated in co-operation would produce far greater and better results. For all employment by another is dependent on the part of the employee. Where the latter is his own employer he is wholly independent, and therefore better capacitated to labor and to produce. In England, where profit sharing has been tried, the workers were willing enough to share profits, but in the off years unwilling to share losses by reduction in wages. Yet nothing is clearer than that, if one shares in the gains of a venture in which he labors he ought to share in the losses as a matter of pure justice. But the worker replies: "I would be willing to do this if I were interested in the capital and shared in all the profits." How much more, if another supplies the capital and organizes the labor, should the worker who shares profits in addition to fixed wages, be willing to share losses by wage reduction? Under co-operation the interest in the capital and organization would be mutual, and the sharing be that of all the profits and increased values of possession and enhancement of the good will. It will thus be seen that there is a very wide distinction between the two systems. And yet, as one means of reducing the artificial friction between capital and labor—which is the outgrowth of false teaching and the neglect to study the question from the standpoint of reason and unselfishness—profit sharing is to be recommended. It serves to enlighten men upon the possibilities that dwell in the logical sequence of profit sharing—co-operation.

ATKINSON ON WAGES AND LABOR.

Edward Atkinson, the eminent statistician, holds that at the present time the average rate of wages in the United States in nearly every art is higher than ever before; higher, with very few exceptions than at the worst period of paper money inflation in 1865, '66 and '67.

On the other hand, the prices of the necessities of life are lower than they have been since 1840. He adds: "If we compute wages both in rate and in purchasing power, men of special skill and aptitude who are now occupied as foremen, overseers, or in the very highest departments of the mechanic arts, are 100 per cent. better off than at the date named, for comparison, to wit, 1865-67. The average mechanic or artisan is 75 per cent. better off. The common laborer is 65 per cent. better off. There has been a short period during the last five years when a good many common laborers were out of employment owing to the sudden cessation of railway building between 1882 and 1884. In the same period a very small portion of the operatives in iron works and other artisans found it difficult to obtain work. The number unemployed was, I think, much exaggerated. That period has gone by." Mr. Atkinson then makes this unmistakable challenge: "There is work now waiting to be done for every industrious man or woman who will accept the conditions on which it is offered; and those conditions are, as a rule, better than they ever were before, the exceptions being in some of the most crowded parts of a few large cities. If, then, there is want in the midst of plenty, it may neither be imposed to institutions, to an undue share failing to capital, nor to obstructive statutes in any great measure. It is due, in most cases, either to physical disability, accident, misfortune, or to mental incapacity, unwillingness to undertake the kind of work that is waiting to be done."

CANADA NOT WANTED.

The dispatches recite the plaint of a prominent Canadian who desires the Dominion provinces to be annexed to the American Union. He assumes to speak for the people of the Canadas, saying that they are, in the main, annexationists, are dissatisfied with English rule, are in trade and sympathy Americans, and are solicitous to be an active working part of the machinery of a great nation and not mere dependents. This same person avers that there is an organization with a large membership in Canada laboring to promote the annexation sentiment. This may all be very well for Canada, but the people of the United States do not desire the annexation of the British-American provinces.

The injection of these new elements into our system would completely demoralize existing conditions, and instead of strengthening would weaken us. Annexation would not add to our income, while it would greatly augment our expenses. The United States has territory sufficient already, until that is settled as thickly and satisfactorily as are Kansas, Missouri and

Iowa we will have no time to administer the affairs of a section that has been so long under the rule of a system so dissimilar to our own. There are weighty political reasons why the Government of the United States should not take upon itself the responsibility referred to, which suggest themselves. Very much the same reasons that prevail against adding Mexico to the United States, obtain in the case of the proposed annexation of Canada.

ALASKA FOR CONVICTS.

It is surprising that such intelligence as that of General O. O. Howard should approve the New York Herald's scheme to make Alaska a penal colony. England's penal reserves have been very costly to her, and have proved neither reformatory nor deterrent. Alaska, as a penal colony, would be a constant heavy expense to the nation. The colony would become the focal point for predatory outlaws to ply upon our neighbors, and the colonists would be subjected to hardships that not even convicts deserve. Humanity has claims upon us in the care of criminals, as well as when other men are the objects of its kindness. Alaska would be worse than Siberia, and as great a shame to the United States as that inhospitable country of exiles is to Russia. To set apart this section of our domain to the uses of a criminal class, would result in driving out all decent people and checking whatever development and progress is possible in that Territory. The effect of the penal settlements upon the native residents would be bad in the extreme, and the Indians would very soon be so contaminated by them as to be wholly unmanageable, except by a standing army subduing the convicts and the Indians combined.

AT THE COST OF THE CONSUMER.

The contest over that baneful measure, the interstate commerce law, will be fought between Eastern influences on the one hand, with the West and South and Eastern interests dependent on the prosperity of the West and South opposing. In all such contests heretofore the East has triumphed, but it is seen that at this time the chances are against them. The evils of the new system are too apparent and too aggravated to be unnoticed; they must be remedied.

These evils are the legislative attempt to interrupt free competition by regulation; the attempt to treat transportation as commerce; the effort to protect the manufacturers of the far East at the expense of the West, and in all sections at the cost of the consumer.

Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever—A New Treatment.

(From the Scientific American.)

Catarrh, on account of its prevalence in this country, is attracting a good deal of attention, especially in the West, for there is a probability of profit from diagnosis, for where there is a mucous-purulent discharge, such as is found in catarrh, the patient will doubtless be as sick as any other.

A short programme was presented and warmly appreciated. It opened with selections by a full orchestra, and the band, in a manner that reflects great credit upon the officers and ladies having charge of the programme.

After being introduced and welcomed by the officers they rendered the following:

“The Soldier's Return.”—Company B, the 10th U. S. Cavalry, marched in from the city to the Association Hall, and was a very pleasant and successful gathering. The hall was well up to the mark, with fine pieces of trimmings, and with busts of great men, giving a very attractive appearance.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The small-pox scare cost Los Angeles $600,000. General Bayton attempted to walk across the Delaware river on Saturday, but had to give up the task because of the high water.

Sarah Bernhardt got tearing mad at Omaha because she got a small audience and turned the play into a broad burlesque. It is stated that the Pope and Czar are never far from a noble monk with a view to the reunion of the Greek and Latin churches.

Mr. John Froner, of Greensburg, Ill., shot her husband at that place on Saturday, killing him instantly. The murder was deliberate.

Experiments made by the German War Office showed that melinite decomposes if kept long, and therefore it is useless for war purposes.

Barney Maguire, a laborer, cut his throat with a pocket knife Sunday, and lay down (dead) in the road near Stockton. The was deliberate.

AN ISLAND DEPOT.

A Southern Purchase Made by the Southern Pacific Company.

"Rattlesnake" Island is the euphonious title of that spot of land sticking up out of the harbor of San Pedro.

As is known, the Wilmington branch of the Southern Pacific Company is here laying "feeders" or tributary lines of road, coal and sea freight destined for this city, coal being hauled. A great number of the Southern terminals are at San Pedro, and it has been noted that ships of heavy draught have been forced to "lighter" before they could be pulled alongside the Southern's wharves and their cargo discharged. For months past the Southern has been here buying the purchase of the aforesaid island. Could they but own it they would build a wharf from the main line out to it and establish the San Pedro terminus of the island's wharves and docks will be commenced at once.

It is rumored that the Russians are enlisting supplies at Chardjui, about twenty miles from the Afghan frontier, preparatory to advancing on Khamish.

The reports of the loss of life among the emigrants on the French steamer, La Cleopatra, were exaggerated. Less than a dozen emigrants have died.

Rabbi Abraham Joseph Ash, an authority on the Talmud, and considered by some the leading orthodox rabbi in the United States, died in New York last Friday.

The picnic held under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias at Towle's grove, near Lincoln Place, on Saturday, was a decided success. About 2,000 people were present.

From reliable authority it is learned that the amount paid for the island will be expended in improving it, and that the Southern will make of "Rattlesnake" a resort for the benefit of invalids.

A regular line of colliers belonging to the company will run there. San Pedro will be the distribution point of coal destined for all points of the Southern Pacific south of the island. The purchase of the steamer Rattlesnake Island by the Southern of course means big things for old San Pedro.—Los Angeles Express.
